

Delivering sections for new shed at nursery - Martin MacKenzie (Lorry driver) on Hiab controls, Willie Swanson (Ganger) on load and Donnie Gibson at back. 1988

New (to nursery) shed erected - 1988

Loading grit barrow - David Murray, W G Ross, James Macaulay and Gary MacMillan

Netted seed beds on left being srayed by Willie Swanson. Spire of Dornoch Cathedral in background - 1988

Treating young trees with insecticide by dipping the foliage and upper stems into a tank of insecticide mixture. Alex Ross and Donnie Gibson all suited up for protection - 1988

Another view of dipping the young trees with roots covered for protection as the treated foliage drains on the side racks. Alex Ross at work - 1988

Drying cage where the dipped trees are laid on the wire racks and allowed to dry in the wind - 1988

Drying cage with racks of newly dipped and drained treated trees are drying in the open air - 1988

Seed beds covered with cloches - 1987

View down the seed beds after the cloches have been removed - 1987

